Paris Loses to Rivermen.

Bad luck still follows in the path of Chief Boniosh. Yesterday afternoon he dropped his third game, this time by the narrow margin of one run, the Rivermen winning by a score of 3 to 2. Boniosh was on his mettle throughout the contest and although the visitors connected safely eleven times, faster fielding would have kept the number of hits down or at least cut them to short drives. The Indian worked well in keeping his hits scattered throughout the game until the seventh when the Rivermen batted in three runs. Three two baggers and a single were sufficient to win the game with the local aggregation unable to hit Beer, and had less effect upon Grover when Manager Kunkle put the hook in operation in the eighth session and sent the big league prospect to the knob to stop the Bourbonites.

Throughout the game Paris made only five safe hits, one of which was a scratch and Mollenkamp, the husky initial sacker, got the credit for three of the total number. The third defeat of Boniosh since he made his debut in the Blue Grass, was the second he has suffered by one run. In each game he has pitched the local aggregation has failed to hit, strongly behind him. In the game yesterday he showed a marked improvement and fast fielding in the eighth inning would probably have kept the total number of runs to a mark which could have been overcome. The three two-base hits, with the exception of possibly one, could have been reduced to singles, and the visitors should consider themselves extremely lucky to get away with the contest.

Lock was the star in the field, accepting ten chances without a bobble, and several of the number were nothing short of difficult. However, the defeat of yesterday, we hope, will be a signal for a victory to-day, for the two teams meet again this afternoon. Manager Harrel will send either Hauser or Applegate, to the mound. Catcher Hicks, who has been out of the game since Sunday, is still suffering from his badly bruised finger, and his absence behind the bat is being keenly felt, although Goodman is putting up an excellent game at the receiving end, but his services are more needed in the outer garden.

Maysville will be the attraction at White Park Saturday afternoon, which will bring to a close the present series and Sunday the locals will meet the Pioneers and Monday Mt. Sterling, which has been strengthened to a marked degree, will come for a series of two games.

Paris came out with the long end of the series with the Orphans in Mt. Sterling Tuesday and Wednesday, winning two out of the three contests. On Tuesday Paris broke even in the double bill, losing the first game by a score of 2 to 1 after playing twelve hard innings. Hauser opposed Sanford, the latter proving the best in the long drawn out struggle, holding the local boys to five hits. The game was the prettiest played on the Mt. Sterling grounds and was featured by the clever fielding of both clubs. The second game went for seven innings and was won by Paris by a score of 6 to 0. Applegate was on the rubber for Paris and was invincible. Only four men were able to get on bases in the seven rounds, two on base on balls, one on a hit and one on an error. Odell was touched for ten safe drives.

The game Wednesday was won by Paris by a score of 10 to 6. Harrold was on the mound for Paris and was wild in the extreme, passing nine men and hitting another. The Paris team was assisted in the run getting by the errors of the Orphans, who had a total of eight to their credit.

Dies of Pellagra in Hospital.

The first death of a citizen of this city resulting from pellagra, occurred Wednesday, when "Aunt Cynthia" Parker, colored, aged about 70 years, died at the Eastern Kentucky Hospital in Lexington. "Aunt Cynthia" had been confined in the institution for some time, being sent there by order of the Bourbon County Court for treatment, her mental faculties being impaired, and it was there, it is believed, the dreaded disease was developed. She was well-known among the white citizens of Paris.

Let Off With Fine.

John Hunter, of Owsley county, William Young, of Lafollette, Tenn., and Robert Smith, of Crab Orchard, who were arrested last Monday night by Jailer Joe Farris, on the charge of having robbed Andrew James, a member of a gang of laborers on the L. & N., railroad were arraigned in the county court and fined $5.00 and costs each. James who was drinking the night the robbery took place, made a statement Tuesday that the money which he thought had been taken from him had been found and the only charge that was preferred against the men in court was disorderly conduct.

Ashurst Farm Sold at Auction.

Harris & Speakes, real estate agents, of this city, sold yesterday at public auction on the premises, the farm of Mr. Lloyd Ashurst, Sr., to Messrs. Lloyd Ashurst, Jr., of Bourbon county, and Chas. Ecton, of Clark county. The farm, which is located on the Bethlehem pike, about three and one-half miles from Paris contains a total of 245 9-10 acres.

The price paid for 196 acres of the tract was $96 per acre, while 49 9-10 acres brought $131.50 per acre. By the terms of the sale purchase money for the smaller tract, amounting in the aggregate to about $6,850, must be paid in cash on the surrender of the deed.

HOT WEATHER POULTRY CARE

Remove Every Window and Substitute Wire Netting for Ventilation of Hen House.

It does not require much hard work to keep a flock in good condition in the summer, but absolute neglect will often completely destroy the winter egg-producing qualities of not only the old hens, but the pullets as well.

If you have not removed every window in the chicken house and substituted wire netting, in order to provide perfect ventilation, do so at once. Better that the chicks roost in the trees than that they be confined in a vermin-ridden building.

Body lice will worry a flock to death, or so nearly so as to destroy its usefulness. These can be killed, but not easily.

Good insect powder will do the business. It should be applied with a powder spray by one person, while another holds the fowls by the legs so that the powder may reach every part of the skin through the disturbed feathers.

TURKEYS NEED LARGE RANGE

Small Pen in Town Is Absolutely Not Suitable for Rearing Meat For Christmas Dinner.

For those persons in town who are thinking of raising a turkey or two in their back yards there is trouble in store. The back yard or pen is not the place for a bird which refuses to be domesticated, W. A. Lippincott, head of the poultry department at the Kansas Agricultural college, says.

The farm is the place to raise turkeys. They must have a good range. During the first few months it is better to give them no grain, but let them forage and eat bugs. If small turkeys are reared in this way, the fatality will be much less.

Professor Lippincott suggests that you let some farmer take your young turkeys and rear them. You might arrange to pay a little rent to a farmer for allowing your birds to roam in his pastures. Then, along about Thanksgiving, all you have to do is to go out and harvest your turkey.

SHADE FOR CHICKEN COOPS

Shelter Is Provided by Means of Sail Cloth Where Trees or Bushes Are Found Scarce.

By means of a sail cloth, duck, or factory cotton curtain shade may easily be supplied chickens where there are no trees or bushes. In such a case as illustrated herewith the stakes are about 2 feet long, and driven 4 to 6 inches in the ground. The curtain is tied only at the corners. On the windy side the tying is closer to the ground than on the lee side. This is of special help in spring.

Keeping Birds Graded.

Be sure to grade your birds according to size as the weeks pass. When you find that some are outstripping the others, take them away and put them with birds of their own size. If you have toe-marked the feet and have put on legbands, you will be able to tell the facts regarding them at any time.

Here is where the value of records comes in. Keep an accurate record of every hatch, and then grade the birds without having to feel that if you mix them up you will not be able to tell them again when you want to know certain things about them.

POULTRY NOTES

The contented and happy hen is the laying hen.

Round pebbles will not do for rough edges to grind the grain.

A writer recommends boiled rice for diarrhea in young turks.

Imitate nature as closely as possible and your turkey crop will pay out.

Eggs should always be protected from the hot sun while being taken to market.

Windows should now be out of the poultry house and wire netting tacked in their places.

A floorless brood coop on clean, dry ground is better than one with a board floor in it.

The average hen outlives her usefulness in two years, and is more profitable sent to market.

Whether kept for hatching or market eggs ought to be kept free from any form of moisture.

When eggs are soft shelled the hens are either too fat or do not get enough mineral matter in their feed.

Don't neglect the water supply as plenty of water helps to keep the hens in good laying condition.

A safe rule to follow in chick feeding is to give them just as much as they will clean up nicely at each feed.

The incubator is no longer an experiment, and the demand for poultry products suggests its more general use.

The "utility" bird is one that is not without its faults, but it is often from a good strain, hence has its own economic values.

One feeding rule is to give the hens half as much as they will eat of a morning, nothing at noon and a full meal at night.
